Hosigi Double Chicken's
1,000th store open,
Congratulations!

With One Heart and One Mind

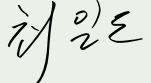

Greetings! Thank you! We love you! Bless you! It's a beautiful world!

This was a physically and mentally grueling summer with the continued heat wave, but thanks to our sponsors' burning passion and love which were "hotter than the heat wave", we were able to keep moving forward with high hopes and dreams.

On the sweltering day of August 12th, the Bab Peacemaker Campaign took place for the second time at the DMZ Peace Park. Bab Peacemaker is a national reconciliation movement that kicked off last year, with the aim of achieving peaceful unification of Korea through the sharing of a meal with a united heart and mind, rather than resolving the conflict between North and South Korea using nuclear weapons or THAAD.

Thanks to the supporters of the Bab Peacemaker Campaign who took part in this year's event with one heart and one mind, we were able to successfully hold the event despite the heat wave. We sincerely pray that Bab Peacemaker will continue to grow as a private campaign aiming toward peaceful unification, while spreading true joy and a sense of freedom before God. We ask the supporters of Bab Peacemaker for their continued interest, involvement and prayers.

"I did my best in roles that no one else wanted to do. As a result, those roles became roles that only I could do." This was a statement made by Oh Dal-soo in an interview that was featured in a newspaper. The sponsors that are dedicated to the Dail Community have given their all in the missions of the community, with one heart and one mind, when such missions were ignored by others. It is our earnest hope that we all work together, with one heart and one mind, for many years to come.

Sincerely,
Ildo Choi, the little brother.

Reporting back!

The Nepal Medical Volunteer Team has fulfilled its duties and returned safely to Korea by the grace of God.

Written by Hyun Ja Kim, the Vice President of DAIL Angel's Hospital

In the early morning of August 8, the Nepal Medical Volunteer Team of DAIL Community arrived safely back in Korea after fulfilling their duties in Nepal. After enduring the high temperature and humidity levels of the rainy season in Nepal, they returned to Korea only to face a summer heat wave. Nonetheless, the members of the Medical Volunteer Team overcame the sweltering heat with their fiery passion for their work and love for others.

The overseas volunteer program was made possible with the support of DAIL Community and ASAN Foundation, and the participation of the medical staff of DAIL Angel's Hospital and volunteers, as well as by the grace of God.

During the 8-days volunteer period, the Medical Volunteer Team provided medical care to the residents of a mountainous region in Sindhupalchowk District who suffered from the massive earthquake last year, and to the residents of a poor neighborhood near the Nepal Dail Community Center.

With the patients who received heartfelt care from DAIL Community medical team immediately following the earthquake in 2015 spreading the word, the medical camp received patients from across the region, including those living in areas that were a few hours walking distance away.

The impact of the massive earthquake still remains... Tragic stories break the volunteers' hearts...

The medical camp was located at Kavre Maranatha Church located in Sindhupalchowk.

It took less than a year to rebuild the church after it had been destroyed by the earthquake last year, thanks to the efforts made by the pastor toward reconstruction, the prayers by the congregation, and the help from God, who oversees everything. Setting the medical camp at this location, where God performed a miracle, made it especially meaningful.

Many of the patients we looked after expressed that they had been experiencing pain from the injuries they sustained in the earthquake. Every time we saw them, we could feel their pain, and it was a heartbreaking experience. There was one patient whose story was especially tragic.

He had injured his toes in the earthquake, but because the injury was left untreated, the wound festered, causing concerns of a possible need for amputation. Limping, he withstood the torturous walk across the rugged mountain for two hours to get to our medical camp and receive treatment. He even lost his parents and two children in the massive earthquake. I could not imagine the physical pain and the anguish he had to endure, yet while taking care of him, my heart ached in pain and it was difficult for me to hold back my tears.

The Nepal Medical Volunteer Team looked after 1,009 patients with love

The Nepal Medical Volunteer Team treated 1,009 patients, dealt with 1,310 medical care cases and 29 surgical cases.

The Nepal Medical Volunteer Team was comprised of 13 members including the team manager, Sun Young Lee, the Chief of the Medical Affairs Department at DAIL Angel's Hospital, as well as Yong Deok Kim, the President of the Kim Surgery Clinic in Gwangyang, Dr. Han Na Jin, Pharmacist Ki Nam Lee, nurse Jung Soon Oh from DAIL Angel's Hospital and her husband, college students Ga Young Seo and Eun Ji Jeon, and the current and former staff members of DAIL Community. Together, the volunteer team members showed phenomenal teamwork with a united heart.

Of particular note, Jung Soon Oh's husband, Heung Shik Jo, Professor of Social Welfare at Seoul National University, who built ties with our organization by participating in the DAIL Spirituality Training Camp, took part in the overseas volunteer program of DAIL Community for the first time during this medical mission.

When we gathered at Incheon International Airport for departure, I greeted Professor Cho and said, "Professor, our medical volunteer activity is very demanding work. Are you prepared?" He replied, "I've been to many non-governmental organizations (NGOs) abroad. I'm planning to write a paper that I've been meaning to do."

However, Professor Cho didn't even have any time for himself. Sitting on a hard, uncomfortable chair all day, he played the important role of measuring the blood pressure of countless patients. Initially, he seemed to be having a tough time, but he felt the joy of volunteering and later confessed to me, saying, "I've been to many other poverty-stricken neighborhoods abroad through other NGOs, but this is my first time volunteering with DAIL Community. I've noticed that DAIL Community is well-prepared and looks after every single patient, without neglecting any one of them, and this has been inspirational. Even the efficient layout of the medical camp has made me realize how incredible your know-how is in medical volunteer work. I believe it is all thanks to the training of faith practiced by DAIL Community. I hope that our volunteer team, with all of its current members, comes to Nepal again next year."

In response to his gracious statement, the other volunteers and I promised to return in the following year, and reminded ourselves of the philosophy of DAIL Angel's Hospital: "God heals, and we volunteer."

"I ask all of our readers for their prayers and support so that we may continue to be used as valuable instruments of God to lend a hand to those in need."

Ulala Session on stage performing at DAIL Honors Day event

Sharing Is How You Practice Love

A Beautiful Story of Sharing from Ulala Session

6 years ago, a group appeared on a star search program and became the final winners after winning the audience's hearts with their jaw-dropping vocals and performances! It's Ulala Session!

“ We plan to become regular sponsors of those who are in need of help. ”

Ever since Ulala Session promised to make a regular donation in 2013, they've become leading celebrities when it comes to sharing. After sharing their abundance for the past 4 years, the celebrated group built ties with DAIL Community for the first time by delivering a wonderful performance at DAIL Honors Day event on July 7.

Ulala Session donated the entire proceeds from the event to DAIL Social Welfare Foundation, and showed the beauty of sharing through DAIL Community.

They say, "You shouldn't just keep love inside your heart; it is important to take action," adding that "Sharing is how you practice love."

I met with them to hear their insight on sharing.

Q1 You took the stage at DAIL Honors Day event on July 7.
How did you feel about taking part in a meaningful event for DAIL Community?

Myung-hoon Kim It was a very meaningful time, and it was an honor to be present at the event as singers. Attending the event held in the presence of the biggest donors made us realize how many large donors are giving back what they received from society to help people in need, and it sparked a sense of respect for them. Watching them lead by example, we also felt a heavy sense of responsibility to promote donation culture through our activities as singers.

Q2 You made a donation to DAIL Community.
How do you wish for it to be used?

Joon-seok Ha We hope that the money we donated is used to help the sick and the poor. The Cheongnyangni Babfor movement of DAIL Community has spread to Africa, and I hope that, as such, DAIL Community's sharing activities are pursued not just in Korea, but across the world.

Q3 You are known for making donations and engaging in sharing activities. When and how did you start giving?

Seung-il Park I'm sure there's almost no one who is not aware of the fact that the late leader of our group, Yoon-taek, battled cancer before his death. During his battle, we visited him in the hospital quite frequently as a way to show him our support. Naturally, we came across many children who were sick, and from those encounters, we realized how many children are in desperate need of treatment. Issues that hadn't interested us before caught our eye, as did the heart-breaking situations of these kids. I think that's why our hearts began to move in that direction.

Q4 You've given through diverse ways to give such as donating rice wreaths. How did you come up with this idea?

Do-won Choi The donation of rice was our fans' idea. Fans of our group or individual members send "rice wreaths" instead of flowers to our events. After the event is over, the rice is delivered straight to the people in need. Thanks to our fans, we, as the donors, and the recipients can experience happiness. We're just grateful to take part in this beautiful act of sharing.

Q5 What does "sharing" mean to you?

Myung-hwan Kim In my opinion, sharing is how you practice love. There are actually many people who are full of love, and who have so much love in their hearts. But I think it's better to not just retain that love inside your heart but to share it, even if it means by making small gestures. That's why I said, "Sharing is how you practice love." We don't donate massive sums of money or pour in so much energy into sharing. We started with the small things, and found joy and happiness in those small things. And we're gradually doing more to share. I hope that others also practice love instead of just keeping it in their hearts. Let's experience the joy of sharing together by practicing love.

You can watch the interview with Ulala Session on DAIL Community's Facebook page.

<https://www.facebook.com/dailcommunity>

Q6 What are your future plans for sharing?

Myung-hwan Kim Since we're singers, we'll work hard to perform. We'll use our energy to share with our neighbors in our community as well as our neighbors who are in need of help, and that will be our primary activity. Also, we plan on sharing more actively through World Vision and DAIL Community by holding concerts in the form of talent donation, so we ask that you cheer us on. Thank you.

HOSIGI

DAIL Community's longtime companion,
Hosigi Double Chicken

opens its 1,000th store after 17 years of business

On August 18, Hosigi Double Chicken (CEO Ho Sik Choi), the first-ever “two-chicken” restaurant chain in Korea, hosted a “love sharing event” at the Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters (Chairperson of DAIL Community, Ildo Choi) in Cheongnyangni in commemoration of the opening of its 1,000th store. Hosigi Double Chicken caused a sensation when it opened its doors in 1999, with an unprecedented marketing strategy of offering two chickens for the price of one, and it has been receiving support from its loyal customers for the past 17 years.

Companionship that began 3 years ago

Hosigi Double Chicken became a companion of DAIL Community in 2013 when they donated 700 bags of the “rice of love” to commemorate the opening of their 700th store. Since then, they have been continually giving to us, donating 800 bags of rice to celebrate the opening of their 800th store, and 900 bags for the opening of their 900th store.

Hosigi Double Chicken's “Rice of Love” Donation Ceremony

At the August event, CEO Ho Sik Choi said, “The reason Hosigi Double Chicken was able to grow and open its 1,000th store was a business strategy that focused on building win-win relationships with customers, franchise owners, and neighbors. We will continue to dedicate ourselves to practicing this win-win relationship strategy.”

Following the donation ceremony, CEO Choi put on an apron alongside the executives and employees of his company, to take part in the Babfor meal distribution and get a truly hands-on experience of sharing.

The chicken chain has also taken part in various other events hosted by DAIL Community, such as the year-end ceremony in 2013, the commemoration event held for the distribution of 7 million Babfor meals in 2014, the Parents’ Day and DAIL’s Day events in 2015, and the recent Bab Peacemaker event held in the demilitarized zone (DMZ). As such, they have been involved in a number of social contribution programs to give back to society.

Starting their journey of giving with DAIL Community... and now an icon of mutual growth!

The representative chicken franchise brand has been achieving accelerated growth, with the opening of at least 100 new stores every year, despite the fierce competition in the market and the economic slowdown. They are setting a great example in society by following their initial resolve to achieve mutual growth with others and serving as a leader in spreading a sharing culture in our society.

Last year, they even formed a sisterhood relationship with DAIL Community’s branch office in Vietnam as a way to expand the scope of their sponsorship internationally. We hope that Hosigi DoubleChicken continues to step forward on the global stage, and emerge as a true global leader that builds win-win relationships with others.

DAIL HONORS DAY held in Cheongyangni on July 7

DAIL Community’s “Noblesse Oblige” event has been held at 7 p.m. on July 7 every year since 2009 as a way to spread a donation culture that focuses on sharing and service. This year, which marks the 8th anniversary of the event, the event was held in the Culture Hall of Lotte Department Store in Cheongyangni on July 7.

This edition of the event was renamed DAIL Honors Day to show honor to those who made large donations to DAIL Community, and the Official Honors Launch Ceremony was held as part of the event for our honors members.

Wang Jo Seon, pays a surprise visit to the DAIL Honors Day event!

The 8th DAIL Honors Day event was held in the presence of 50 DAIL sponsors including mountaineer Hong-gil Um, former baseball player Chan-ho Park, and Hyemin Sunim. Kicking off the event was the New Honors Members Induction Ceremony, during which a video was presented to look back on Sang-won Park’s journey as the Ambassador of DAIL for some 20 years, and he was congratulated for being listed as a new honors member for having donated more than KRW 100 million to date. Wang Jo Seon traveled all the way from China to congratulate Sang-won Park on becoming an honors member and to thank him for being her sponsor for the past 7 years.

He hugged her in silence for a while after expressing that he was grateful and proud that she came to him as the "fruit of the beautiful sharing" he was part of, and their loving embrace brought tears to many people's eyes.

Afterwards, the Honors Launch Ceremony took place to honor the 12 honors members who have contributed so much to DAIL Community. As part of the launch ceremony, the Honors Plaque Conferment Ceremony and the Hand Printing Event were held, and we extended our deepest gratitude to each of our biggest donors and sponsors.

The DAIL Honors Day performance teams, add more fun and laughter to the event

The New Honors Members Induction Ceremony, the Honors Launch Ceremony, the Screening of Results Report Video... The program of the DAIL Honors Day event may have been a bit too formal if it hadn't been for the performance teams that added some fun and laughter to the event. MUZ, a 15-member musical gala team, delivered the opening and closing performances, while the Lee Ji Ho Trio gave a jazz performance that had the audience enraptured. Magician Jae Yong Ha became one with the audience through the magic show, and Ulala Session drove the guests wild with their breathtaking dance performances. These performances, which took place throughout the event program, created an exciting atmosphere and helped the DAIL Honors Day shine even more brightly.

The DAIL honors members made it possible for the Babfor program, which could have merely stopped at serving instant noodles, to grow and branch out into the Bbangfor and Kkumfor programs. We hope that their gesture of "noblesse oblige" sparks an even bigger movement that involves the upper class and leaders of our society so that the act of sharing may become deeply rooted beyond DAIL Community and throughout Korea.

The 2nd Bab Peacemaker Passion that is fierier than the summer sun

The 2nd Bab Peacemaker event was held at the Dorasan Peace Park in the DMZ on August 12 prior to the Independence Day of Korea. The event was launched last year with the aim of striving toward a peaceful unification of Korea. It has been organized as a peaceful unification campaign led by the private sector for the purpose of sharing meals for North and South Korea to move toward reconciliation.

Despite the sweltering heat, around 400 people from the academic, religious, political and other circles came to the 2nd Bab Peacemaker. Held under the slogan, “Bab (lit. “Rice” or “Meal”) is Peace! Let’s Share Bab,” the five co-chairpersons expressed their wish for North and South Korea to ease the tension and conflict that has built up for the past 70 years by slowly eating a meal together. They also expressed their resolve to continue hosting the Bab Peacemaker event until the day when the North and South Korean soldiers and military commanders can sit down at one table to eat a meal together, as a way to step toward peaceful unification. A special performance followed the congratulatory speeches and the reading of the declaration statement by the co-chairpersons!

The exciting performance by Haemaru, a performance troupe, made everyone want to get up from their seats and dance to the music, and it instantly changed the mood of the event. It was a party at the Peace Park, with everyone dancing to the beats created by the samulnori (traditional Korean percussion quartet) troupe. Imagining the day of peaceful unification, everyone moved with excitement and ardent passion to the music that blew the summer heat away. Haemaru's performance was followed by other performances that helped the event reach its climax such as the Sharing a Meal of Reconciliation and the Rice pot Relay (a campaign to pass on the "rice of life"). There were a wide range of dishes placed on the table including the rice, side dishes, fruits and rice cakes prepared by the Bab Peacemakers, seolleongtang (ox bone soup) donated by Hanchon Seolleongtang, and fried chicken prepared by Hosigi Double Chicken. This meal of reconciliation was prepared with the North and Korean soldiers in mind, and the grand feast was shared by all of the event participants. The Ssaengssari Relay performance involved pouring rice into a massive rice storage pot, while praying for the unification of Korea. Around 400 participants at the event took part in the relay, with each and every individual thinking of the day when North and South Koreans can come together as one at the Bab Peacemaker event.

Because the venue is closed off to public access, we had to go through the trouble of applying for and receiving the approval to enter the site. Plus, the event took place in the sweltering heat, with the temperature reaching nearly 40°C. Despite such hardships, the 2nd Bab Peacemaker came to its conclusion without any problems or accidents thanks to the grace of God.

We hope that the Bab Peacemaker event serves as an impetus for us to strive toward the unification of Korea by doing what we can to contribute, no matter how small it may seem, right here, right now, so that we can achieve peaceful unification and that the DMZ can become a venue of festivities and meetings of North and South Koreans. DAIL

Story from the field

NEPAL

Choi, hong

the President of DAIL Community Nepal

A medical camp that spread warmth in Nepal

From August 1 to 8, DAIL Community Nepal set up medical camps in Sindhupalchowk, which was heavily damaged by the relatively recent earthquake, and the most poverty-stricken area in Nepal, with the support of the ASAN Foundation.

The camp in the area affected by the earthquake received numerous villagers who have difficulty accessing medical care as they live deep in the mountains. Most of them had to walk for two to three hours to get to the camp, and considering how many of them said, after receiving medical services, "I cannot leave today because my home is too far from here. I have to sleep here tonight and leave tomorrow morning," it seemed that a great number of them had to spend almost an entire day walking to the camp.

"Why did they come this far?" Many of the patients who came to the medical camp jumped at the chance to receive free medical care, as they are so poor that they cannot afford to pay for it, and were willing to walk for hours to receive the care they needed. Plus, they were able to receive quality medications from Korea, and receive simple surgical procedures that are not typically performed in Nepal. Aware of their dire circumstances, we did our best to serve them.

A lump in the bladder

Surgery being performed to remove the mass

One man showed up with a large lump in his bladder. It must've caused a lot of discomfort, and we were able to remove it completely through a surgical procedure performed at the medical camp. This type of surgery is not usually performed in Nepal, and even if it is performed, it results in a massive medical bill, so most patients with this type of condition do not dare seek treatment.

Needless to say, the man was very grateful and didn't stop saying, "Thank you," to the medical staff after surgery.

The medical camp set up in Kathmandu, the capital of Nepal, was a site of miracles. It was visited by people from across the region including Dading, which is about a 4 to 5-hour drive away, and Pokhari, which is about a 7-hour drive away, who received various types of treatment. Of course, they came to us to receive "free" medical care, but I believe it was their faith in us to listen attentively to them and to heal them with the utmost care and sincerity that brought them to us despite the long-distance travel.

ASAN Medical Volunteer Team

While watching the miracles that sprouted love for 6 days, I realized how God always wants to give us only the best and answers our prayers with something even better than what we asked for.

Following the earthquake in 2014, we set up a medical camp twice in an earthquake-affected area immediately, and twice again in 2015. Every time we hosted a medical camp, I had strong faith that we'd be able to help the people, who implored us to come again in the following year, and thanks to your prayers, we were able to keep our promises to them once again this year. The patients who have felt the warmth through our medical camps for the past 3 years requested us to return again next year as they "want to feel the warmth of love again" and said that they "could not wait until next year."

With your prayers, a team of 25 members, including 3 doctors, 1 pharmacist and 4 nurses as well as interpreters, administrators, and staff members who compounded the medications and gave directions for the dosage and intake, served the patients in need at this year's medical camp. It is my sincerest hope that our medical camp can continue so that we can continue sharing the warmth of love. dajl

Sung Hee Han

the President of DAIL Community Philippines

The arrival of new tableware

Our food trays had gotten old and easily breakable, and they had even become discolored by food stains, making them unsanitary. After hearing this news, Sang-Ok Ahn decided to donate 300 new food trays and 50 new dishes. Thanks to the new dishware, the food served seems even more appetizing.

Greetings to the 4H Overseas Volunteer Team

The 4H Overseas Volunteer Team arrived at DAIL Community Philippines for volunteer work. Although we had to cancel all of our outdoor games due to the heavy rain, we had a great time indoors, playing traditional Korean games such as the chicken fight as well as arm wrestling. The volunteer team divided themselves into the Games Team and Babfor Team. The Babfor Team cooked rice to be distributed on a Saturday, even though it was a Bbangfor Day. I was especially grateful that they made an abundant amount of pork adobo, which is the children's favorite dish.

Nutrition Day at the kindergarten

People in the Philippines rarely eat raw vegetables, and for this reason, we've designated a "nutrition month" and a "nutrition day" to host a special food event. At DAIL Kindergarten, we organized several programs in time for the Nutrition Day. Such programs included "naming a vegetable with one's eyes covered," "making a sandwich by adding at least four types of vegetables," and "eating veggie biscuits." These fun programs received a positive response from children and adults alike. However, it is unfortunate that since vegetables are relatively more costly compared to meat, the Nutrition Day can only be organized once a year, unless we have sufficient funding to host more events. This, I found to be quite regrettable.

This was a valuable opportunity for the children to see, taste and learn the names of vegetables that they typically don't get to see or eat. The Nutrition Day event was concluded with a wonderful dance performance given by the kindergarten students, which brought smiles to everyone's face.

Calcium deficiency

We paid a visit to John Rey's home because we hadn't seen him for days. When we arrived, we noticed that he was so weak that he could not stand up on his own. Worried that he was suffering from a serious illness, we took him to a hospital, where the doctor diagnosed him with malnutrition. The doctor also noted that John Rey was suffering from calcium deficiency.

Here, over 70% of the children are suffering from the same condition as John Rey. They are unable to obtain all the nutrients, including vitamins and calcium, they need for proper growth and development.. As a result, malnutrition can occur, and it can consequently lead to skin disease and other illnesses. A single meal from the DAIL Babfor Center can provide these nutrients.

In today's world, there are countries where child obesity is prevalent and countries where children collapse and fall ill due to famine and malnutrition. I hope that more people in this world look up and around them to see the dire situations faced by many children around the world. DAIL

CAMBODIA

Hyeonggil Kim

the President of DAIL Community Cambodia

A visit from Ghandi School in Sancheong-gun

Students from Ghandi School in Sancheong-gun paid a visit to DAIL Community in Cambodia. The students came all the way from Sancheong-gun, Gyeongsangnam-do, Korea to Siem Reap in Cambodia after one of the students, who had volunteered at Babfor in Cheongnyangni, suggested that they volunteer at Babfor in Cambodia. These young volunteers made special memories here in Cambodia.

After arriving at DAIL Community Cambodia, they began with the Babfor volunteer work, preparing the food ingredients, serving food, organizing the food trays, and cleaning the dining area for the children. They sweated profusely in the heat, distributing hot bowls of rice among the children, and after the prep work, they gently spoke to the children, making eye contact with each and every one of them, saying, "Arkoun preah yesaou (Thank you, Jesus)." At Bbangfor, they even baked nutrient-packed bread for the children who could not make it to Babfor as it was too far for them. Afterwards, they washed the dishes, and they confessed that while it was physically demanding work, they truly felt happy.

After a meal, the students took a short break before heading over to the kindergarten. The kindergartens in Cambodia are substandard compared to those in Korea. First, the classes are not divided based on age, and there isn't a standard education program, like the Nuri Program of Korea, that targets children between the ages of 3 to 5. Plus, there is absolutely no government support for kindergartens, and this is why school supplies are lacking.

The students from Ghandi School planned a wide variety of programs to present the kids with special experiences. First, the students divided themselves into four groups to carry out both dynamic and relaxing activities, and activities related to science, physical education, and art.

The kids had a chance to piece together a puzzle of Pororo and make paper airplanes out of colorful paper with the students from Korea. The radiant smiles never left the children's faces, which showed how overjoyed they were. It was truly a joyful day for the students from our afternoon classes at Saemmul DAIL Kindergarten.

There were outdoor activities as well. Our kindergarten students usually play in dirt, but this time, they had science kits in their hands! Some of the kids were playing with dragonfly toys, and amazed by how the toys spun down when thrown up in the air, they played with them for a long time in the insufferable heat. There were also volunteers who made various different shapes using long, colorful balloons. Some children made whooshing sounds as they swung around the balloon sword. After playing outdoors, the children were provided with small gifts and pastries from the student volunteers. When it was time for them to leave, the young volunteers had trouble saying good-byes, as they looked into the eyes of each child. These students came to us so that they could offer special experiences for the less fortunate children, and I pray that the smiles and overjoyed look on our Cambodian children's faces left a deep impression in their hearts. dail

TANZANIA

Jongwon Park

the President of DAIL Community Tanzania

From Babfor to Kkumfor

Similar to all other branches, DAIL Community Tanzania began the Babfor (free food distribution) mission in 2012 from scratch. The missionaries in the area tried to stop us from initiating the program, calling it futile, but we began the mission in Tanzania based on the spirit of Babfor that sprouted in Cheongnyangni 28 years ago. As a result, we were able to establish a Babfor center in Tanzania, which was a miracle.

At the Babfor Center, we have been serving nutritious meals to the children from the poverty-stricken area of Kunduchi, and instilling hopes and dreams in children through an alternative school called the Hope Class. “From Babfor to Kkumfor,” DAIL Community Tanzania has moved beyond its initial Babfor mission toward Kkumfor.

However, the Hope Class operating at the current Babfor Center has spatial limitations, with enough room for only around 40 students a year. This is why DAIL Community Tanzania decided to build a DAIL Vision Center for the Kkumfor efforts, and we’ve purchased land for this project with the money donated from our generous donors. Then, in late June, we began the “USD 200,000 Fundraising Campaign for the Establishment of a DAIL Vision Center in Tanzania” through the 5th Vision Trip. The Vision Center, which is set to be built, will contain classrooms, a staff room, a library, a guesthouse and a night duty room.

The children living in this neighborhood come from families that are so poor that they cannot afford to send their children even to a public school. These children spend all day at home, playing and doing house chores. The Hope Class, which provides them with an opportunity to learn and instills in them a sense of hope, is presently operated at the Babfor Center, which doesn’t have sufficient space to hold classes or a place where children can read or study. Needless to say, at this moment, it is difficult for us to help every child in Kunduchi to unleash their potential and foster their dreams through education. I ask for your fervent prayers and support so that the construction of the DAIL Vision Center in Tanzania is carried out smoothly and these children can strive toward their dreams.

Give hope to the workers of the Kunduchi Quarry

The vast majority of the residents of the poor neighborhood in Kunduchi make ends meet by extracting stones from the quarry site. They earn only 2 dollars from working all day, yet for many of them, enduring this physically grueling task is the only way they can afford to buy a meal for their family.

Unfortunately, however, there have been a growing number of families going hungry due to depletion of the quarry. The future seems especially dark and dire for single mothers. If they had a husband, they would travel even the farthest distances to make money for their families, but because they are the only ones looking after the children, they have no other choice but to remain in the village to work and care for the young ones. This is why we've been visited by women who express their desperate desire to make a better living by purchasing vegetables, fruits, fish, slippers and so on from wholesale markets to sell in the village or to sell skewers on the streets.

Child sponsorship programs have provided them with the money for their children's education and medical care as well as some household supplies, but this is not enough for a family of four to five to live on. The financial burden is especially heavy on single mothers who live in rental homes. There have even been an increasing number of families evicted from their homes because they couldn't pay rent. For these families, we pay 3 months' rent for them, but this cannot be a long-term solution. Generally, USD 50 can help one household run a small street vending business that will help them become more self-sufficient. Please have in your prayers the single mothers living in Kunduchi who are left with no choice but to become street vendors because they cannot find a job as a maid or at a construction site. Thank you. DAIL

Wang Jo-seon's visit to Korea

Wang Jo-Seon, a medical student at Yanbian University, paid a visit to Korea to attend the DAIL Honors Day held in Cheongnyangni, Seoul on July 7. This surprise visit was organized so that she could thank DAIL Ambassador Sang-won Park, who was inducted as an honors member. Jo Seon stayed in Seoul for a few days after the event, spending a wonderful and meaningful time amidst the love and attention that she was showered with from the staff of DAIL Community in Seoul.

The heartfelt advice given to her by those whom she met in Seoul seems to have left a deep impression on her. When she returned to China, she was no longer the reserved young woman I once knew; she was very talkative, and couldn't stop talking about her experience in Korea. Seeing this marked change in her personality, I realized how everyone in Seoul must have treated her with love and kindness, and I felt a sense of gratitude, just like Jo-Seon.

"Thank you ever so much for showering Jo-Seon

Jo-Seon with DAIL Ambassador Sang-won Park during her visit to Korea

with so much love during her stay in Korea."

Meeting Deacon Park Gyo-jin and Park Jong-hwi for the third time

We have two guests who have been visiting us every summer for the past 3 years. They are Park Gyo-jin and Park Jong-hwi, a father and son, from San Francisco, U.S.A.

During the school break in the summer, Jong-hwi has been coming to Hunchun to play and study with the children for around 10 years. He has become a precious friend of the children at the Hunchun Children's House. This is an important year for him as he will be entering his senior year in high school. Despite his busy academic schedule, he visited us again this summer, wholeheartedly. He neither traveled nor dined out during his stay so that he could stay with the children, and I felt grateful, guilty and proud of him at the same time.

Jong-hwi is accompanied by his father during his annual visit to DAIL Community in Hunchun to do volunteer work. Deacon Park is also a sponsor, providing the college tuition fees for Wang Jo Seon. I hope that these precious ties remain unbroken for many years to come and bear beautiful fruits in the future.

A visit to Fangcun

A visit to Fangcun, China during a summer break

This summer, we were blessed with abundance thanks to the talent donors in Hunchun. The children got to experience how to make natural soaps and traditional rice cakes, and visited a bookstore (which most of them have rarely been to), together with the talent donors. It was truly an enriching experience for the children.

Of particular note, we took a trip to Fangcun, which is about an hour away from Hunchun, as part of the Global Samsung Dream Scholarship Program: Cultural Exploration. Fangcun is located in a region that borders China, Russia and North Korea. In order to get a view of the three countries, we took the kids to the Fangcun Observatory, where we laughed and had a great time.

While taking photographs, I suddenly wondered, 'What's running through the children's minds as they take in this sight? The country across the river is the motherland for the eight Joseonjok (Korean Chinese) children we're looking after... How do they feel, not being able to meet their mothers even though they are very close to them now?' As the children laughed joyfully and innocently, I tried to hide my teary eyes from them by clicking on the shutter button incessantly.

We have a new family member!

Song-cheol was born to a North Korean mother and a Joseonjok father. After his father passed away, his mother married another Joseonjok man. But when she was reported to the authorities and sent back to North Korea, Song-Cheol's stepfather sent him to the Jilin Orphanage in Changchun. He endured pain and suffering that no child should be put through, and without receiving any proper education, he could not speak the Joseonjok language, even though he could understand it. Plus, he couldn't speak Korean at all. Due to the language barrier, he could not enroll in secondary school, and he was sent back to Hunchun. Through the Hunchun Civil Affairs Bureau, he finally arrived at DAIL Children's House.

The new member of our family is very quiet and shy. He is very positive, thoughtful and considerate of others, and this is why everyone around him likes him. With a keen interest in car maintenance work, Song-Cheol has applied to study in the Department of Automobiles at one of the vocational high schools in Hunchun, hoping to enroll this coming September. We are waiting for a sponsor to lend a helping hand to Song-Cheol so that he can study in the vocational school and grow into a healthy individual who can contribute to society later in life. dail

UGANDA

Hye Kyung Kim

the President of DAIL Community Uganda

DAIL Vision Center Uganda is filled with your love

Greetings,

I imagine that Korea is currently affected by the oppressive heat of the summer. Although it is warmer here in Uganda than in Korea, it is fairly cool in the morning and the evening, as it is the winter season.

Our mission in Uganda is to distribute meals for children through Babfor and educate them through Kkumfor. As of August 2016, thirty two children are receiving money for tuition fees and school uniforms as well as corn powder, cooking oil and other supplies through the 1:1 child sponsorship program. In order to attain a greater vision through Babfor and Kkumfor, we were in desperate need of a Vision Center, and this August, two years after coming to Uganda, we finally found a place to build the center. It was such a perfect place for our missions that we prayed to God pleading with Him to give us this place, but we never imagined that we'd have our prayers answered this quickly. We are very grateful to God for this blessing.

The DAIL Vision Center Uganda, which opened on August 1, 2016, is comprised of a house, with a kitchen that has four braziers and 10 rooms, and an outdoor Babfor dining area. This was formerly a guesthouse and restaurant. The outdoor dining area is ideal for the Babfor program, while the guesthouse containing 10 rooms is perfect for the group home activities for the orphans.

Now that we have the building and site, it is now time for us to get the equipment we need. We need to purchase kitchen supplies and group home equipment. To be more specific, for Babfor, we need 200 chairs, a refrigerator, and 15 tables, and for the group home, we need 10 tables, 10 book shelves, 10 closets, mosquito nets, shoe racks, cleaning tools, and toiletries. In order to buy all of these supplies, we need about USD $10,000. We've contacted everyone we know, and we've been able to raise about USD $3,000 so far. We are waiting for 70 angels who would be willing to donate USD $100 each. Once the group home for the orphans is decorated, we will be inviting the generous angels to the Vision Center to volunteer and meet the beautiful kids. Is there anyone who'd like to donate USD $100 and become a pioneering member of DAIL Community Uganda? First come, first served! Please raise your hand!

Thank you! I love you! God bless you! We are the beautiful DAIL Community Uganda.

Gwooon Kim

the President of DAIL Community U.S.A.

I introduce to you an angel on Earth.

I'd like to introduce to you Yu Jae-in (Tree of Life), who has been a longtime sponsor of DAIL Community U.S.A. He became our sponsor and friend after experiencing the grace of God at a spirituality training camp in the U.S.A. several years ago.

He is currently living a life of sharing and service by providing assistance for DAIL's overseas missions. A few years ago, he and his family experienced financial hardships when his business suffered a decline, but with strong faith in God, he overcame it all, and he is living day to day with gratitude and joy as a chef at a Korean restaurant.

No matter how exhausted he gets, he visits our office on a regular basis once every two months when he's off from work to give us his donation. He greets the DAIL family with a warm smile, and encourages and prays for us. I'm so grateful to him that I become emotionally overwhelmed whenever I see him.

He visited our office again today because it was his day off. With a sense of gratitude, I wanted to inform everyone of his kind gestures and good deeds, so I asked him whether I could interview him and take a photograph with him. He declined, saying that he was embarrassed. His humility inspired all those who saw him on this day.

Yu Jae-in sponsor in DAIL Community U.S.A

Whenever he hears of DAIL's difficulties abroad during the missions, he doesn't hesitate to come to us to donate his hard-earned money. Whenever I see him, I'm reminded once again of how invaluable the donations made by each one of our sponsors are.

I'd like to extend my sincerest gratitude to all the hidden angels in the U.S.A. who provide us with ongoing support for DAIL Community U.S.A. in our missions. Thank you! I love you! God bless you! This is a beautiful world! dail

BABFOR SHARING MOVEMENT HEADQUARTERS

Se In Ko

the Vice-Director of the BABFOR Sharing Movement Headquarters

Babfor inspired by the humble volunteers on July 9

On a steamy summer day, Sung-ryul Kim, the Vice Minister of the Interior, the staff of the Ministry of the Interior, Wol Ja Jung, the Chairperson of the Central Association of Living Righteously, and the members of the Association came to volunteer with us.

MOI Vice Minister Kim sat in the orientation, but the Babfor staff weren't aware of his presence. Then, one of the staff asked when he was expected to arrive, and overhearing this conversation, Vice Minister Kim waved his hand, saying, "I'm him." He was in casual wear, wearing a t-shirt and jeans, so no one imagined that he was the Vice Minister of the Interior. "Sorry, Vice Minister Kim."

From the start until the end, MOI Vice Minister Kim humbly carried out his duties. He was devoted to the task at hand and led everyone by example, which inspired all the staff members of Babfor. He even said to the staff, "Let's create more opportunities to run various other volunteer programs to help seniors." Just listening to his words encouraged and comforted our staff. Wol Ja Jung, the Chairperson of the Central Association of Living Righteously, also offered us encouraging words, commenting that Babfor of DAIL Community, a Korea-based NGO, has done invaluable work for more than 28 years. She also said that the members of the association in Seoul have agreed to volunteer with us, and it was touching to hear her say that whenever we are lacking volunteers or are in need of a helping hand, we should let them know because they will come to help us right away.

Samgyetang (ginseng chicken soup) prepared in time for the second dog day of the summer on July 27

In time for jungbok (the second dog day of summer), the Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters hosted the Hanbatang Samgyetang Party. Using the 500 chickens donated by Hanchon Seolleongtang, 44 volunteers cooked delicious and filling samgyetang for the seniors. After drinking the last drop of the hot soup, the seniors even ate all of the watermelon on their food trays. Watching this made our staff and the volunteers feel full, even though we hadn't eaten at all.

Some of the elderly visitors said that they didn't even know that this was the second dog day, and thanked us for serving samgyetang that

MOI Vice Minister Kim Sung-ryul taking part in the Saengssal Relay

Seniors eating the delicious samgyetang on the second dog day made them feel invigorated. We grabbed their hands, which showed signs of aging and years of hard work, and apologized for not providing them with samgyetang on all of the three dog days every year. We also promised them that we'll serve them better in the future. Thanks to everyone who worked very hard behind the scenes, the seniors got to feel reenergized after suffering from heat exhaustion for days, and it was a heartwarming experience for all.

Promising a life of sharing and devotion at a child's first birthday party on July 30

Hyeon Su's first birthday party

Jong Beom Byeon and Sang Hwa Son's third son, Hyeon Su, celebrated his first birthday at the Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters. On the day marking the anniversary of their third child's birth into this world, the parents volunteered at Babfor to make it extra meaningful, just like they did on the first birthdays of their first son, Eun-su, and their second son, Ji-su.

The mother had contemplated what to do for her first son's first birthday, as first birthday celebrations these days can be exhausting and costly. So instead of following the current trends, she wondered what she could do to make it more meaningful. Her husband suggested that they volunteer, and she thought it was a great idea. That's how they began volunteering on the first birthdays of their sons.

The couple themselves was moved when they volunteered on the first birthday of their first son, which made them do it again on their second child's first birthday. Then they continued their special way of celebrating their children's first birthdays at Babfor more recently for their third son. Sang Hwa Son shared with us that her neighbors were inspired by their deeds and that they wanted to volunteer like them if given the opportunity. She said it brought her a lot of joy, seeing how she was being a good influence on her neighbors.

At Hyeon Su's first birthday party, there were many other volunteers, besides his parents. The volunteers who took us by surprise were Seo Jin Kang and Hyeon Seo Lee, who were elementary school students. It must not have been easy for these young children to volunteer on such a hot day, but they actually suggested to their parents that they should keep volunteering after being inspired by Hyeon Su's parents. Also, they even gave their allowance money back to their mothers so that it could be used to sponsor people in need, and they filled out sponsorship application forms to get started. We were all amazed by the kind gestures of these blossoming angels.

On Hyeon Su's first birthday on July 30, his parents' kind and compassionate gesture as well as their resolve to raise their children as children of God had a positive influence on their neighbors and other volunteers. It was truly a day of blessing for us all. Dajil

DAIL ANGEL HOSPITAL DAIL LITTLE HEAVEN

Jeongsun Lim

the President of DAIL Little Heaven

Gi Yeol Yu baptized on his death bed

Gi Yeol Yu was admitted to DAIL Little Heaven on December 9, 2015. Following a divorce in 2013, he lived alone and as he began to be harassed by his creditors, he left his home and started sleeping at inns and Korean saunas. When he ran out of money, he went to the Yeongdeungpo Hope Support Center, a facility for the homeless, and lived in the House of Bohyeon. Then, in October 2015, he was diagnosed with nasal cavity cancer caused by a mass in his right cheek. To receive treatment, he was admitted to DAIL Little Heaven.

Gi Yeol Yu, a patient at DAIL Little Heaven

The chemotherapy and radiation therapy caused sores inside his mouth, preventing him from eating properly, but he never gave up hope, believing that things would only get better. The chemotherapy resulted in the formation of a 2cm fistula below his right eye, and it has been gradually growing in size. Unfortunately, his attending doctor has said that under the present circumstances, there is nothing much that can be done for Gi Yeol Yu, except for the conservation therapy he is receiving at the moment. Currently an inpatient at the SMG-SNU Boramae Hospital, Gi Yeol Yu expressed his wish to be baptized and become a child of God at DAIL Little Heaven. Reverend Jung Soon Lim, the President of DAIL Little Heaven, and two staff members paid him a visit in the hospital to soothe his heartache and suffering and baptize him. We wish that Gi Yeol Yu finds solace in God.

DAIL Little Heaven being built with laughter

Some of the seniors at DAIL Little Heaven wait for 2 p.m. every day in eager anticipation. It's because of the laugh therapy program. Most of the seniors admitted to DAIL Little Heaven are cancer patients who experience severe pain and symptoms, so they are unable to go outdoors and must spend most of their time watching TV in the lounge. However, thanks to the laugh therapy program, the elderly patients began laughing more and gained more vivacity. Seeing this change has been a blessing for those serving them. The seniors, who were stigmatized because they were homeless, confess that they've been experiencing small changes in life ever since coming to DAIL Little Heaven. Every word they say brings joy to us and becomes the driving force behind DAIL Little Heaven. To all of the elderly patients at DAIL Little Heaven, we are always grateful to you. We love you. DAIL

Happiness Dream Volunteer Group of the Ministry of the Interior |

Sung Ryul Kim, the Vice Minister of the Interior, and the staff of Ministry of the Interior came to Babfor to volunteer. MOI Vice Minister Kim said that we should create more opportunities to run various other volunteer programs and help seniors, and his humble words and actions inspired us all. We hope to see him more often at Babfor events.

Banghak Middle School students |

Students from Banghak Middle School visited Babfor. Even amidst the sweltering heat, they didn't lose their smiles while volunteering on site, and watching them made us realize that the future of Korea looks bright. We pray that the students from Banghak Middle School continue to grow, and lead a life of sharing and service.

Deobureo, the Volunteer Group of Hana Card (formerly, KEB Card) |

The members of Deobureo, a volunteer group comprised of the staff members at Hana Card (formerly, KEB Card), came to Babfor to do volunteer work. They promised to visit us again, commenting that they were greatly touched by the experience, and raised funds to be donated toward our cause. Thank you.

Year 2 Class 1 Students from the 6th Middle School of Hunchun |

Every school vacation, a large number of student volunteer groups from across the city of Hunchun visit us at DAIL Community China. Of them, the students of Year 2 Class 1 at the 6th Middle School of Hunchun divide themselves into groups to take turns, visiting us during the school breaks. Group 2 visited us this time, and worked in the kitchen, making gimbap, which is one of our children's favorite foods. Thank you!

DAIL Community U.S.A

Ji Eun Shin |

Ji Eun Shin has been visiting DAIL Community U.S.A. every month since we began raising funds for the earthquake-affected regions in Nepal last year. She does valuable work for us, sending letters to the missionaries stationed at the overseas branches and packages from the sponsors. Knowing that we lack the human resources to handle all of the work at our office, she sometimes brings her children to the office to help out, and she even offers us delicious snacks. Every gesture she has shown has given us strength and made us more resilient. Without feeling the need to stand out or make a name for herself, Ji Eun Shin serves God and others without wavering. We'd like to express our gratitude to her, and pray that God and peace be with her and her family, at her workplace and at her church. Thank you! We love you!

Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters

Gye Su Yun |

Gye Su Yun is a volunteer who has been demonstrating the beauty of service and devotion in Nepal since this past May. As a U.S. resident, Mr. Yun plans to volunteer in Nepal for 5 months, which is the maximum period of sojourn granted to travelers with a tourist visa. Instead of leading a more comfortable and abundant life at home, he chose to travel far to come to the poverty-stricken area to help others. He comes to the center early in the morning to help prepare for Babfor as a way to begin his day. He always assumes the tasks that are most difficult and rigorous that most others would rather avoid. He repaired damaged tables and chairs, saying that he has a knack for woodworking, and he even invited the staff to a fancy restaurant that they rarely get to go to as a way to engage in fellowship. Mr. Yun is a partner of DAIL Community Nepal that we wouldn't be able to live out. He will be returning to the U.S.A. in September, and we ask that you pray for him so that he can be devoted to his work until then.

If you wish to serve as a short-term or long-term volunteer, like Mr. Yun, please feel free to send in your application. It will be a valuable opportunity to serve and share with others.

Mi Ran Choi and Hong Jin Ryu |

Mi Ran Choi, who was sent to Bangladesh by the Korea International Cooperation Agency (KOICA) to serve as a Korean language teacher for 2 years, visited Babfor in Vietnam with her husband and deacon Hong Jin Ryu. After fulfilling her given duties as a member of KOICA, she is lending a helping hand once again with her husband. "Mi Ran Choi and Hong Jin Ryu do not hesitate to go wherever and whenever their help is needed! We wish you great health, and may God's blessing be with you with every step you take."

The 6th Lotteria Global Expedition Team |

The 6th Lotteria Global Expedition Team visited Babfor again this year, just like they did in 2015. The 6th Expedition Team of Lotteria Vietnam has been participating in Babfor, a social contribution program, on a monthly basis. They shared a warm meal and love with the local residents of Vietnam. In addition to participating in the social contribution program, Lotteria even donated vouchers, worth VND 200 million (approx. KRW 10 million), so that our recipients could enjoy an abundant feast. "We'd like to express our thanks to Lotteria, which gives us more than what we need, and the members of the 6th Expedition Team, who volunteered this year."

DAIL Community Cambodia

S.B.S (U.S.A.)/ Korea International School (KIS) Jeju |

Jong Hyeon Choi and Ji Oh Han, who are studying in America, volunteered at Babfor and Bbangfor at DAIL Community Cambodia in addition to teaching English praise songs to the youth choir and singing the songs with the children. Jong Hyeon personally met with the child he is sponsoring, while Ji Oh met the child he was planning to sponsor, and it was a beautiful sight to watch. Also, eight students from Korea International School (KIS) Jeju volunteered at Babfor and Bbangfor as well as engaging in various other activities such as painting boats at the DAIL Wooden Boat-making Yard, sharing rice, and making home visits, which brought joy to the children of DAIL Community Cambodia. We were all inspired by how these individuals were practicing compassion and sharing at such a young age. Thank you.

Love Kkamtti |

Do Hyeon Kim, who volunteered at DAIL Community Cambodia as a member of the Korean University Council for Social Service, re-visited us. After volunteering with us 7 years ago, he formed an organization called "Love Kkamtti," and has been sponsoring us ever since. Do Hyeon Kim returned to DAIL Community Cambodia to volunteer, and under the name, "Love Kkamtti," he donated various supplies that the children could use in their extracurricular activities such as taekwondo uniforms, table tennis rackets and balls, and soccer balls. We are grateful and happy to have Do Hyeon and Love Kkamtti constantly supporting us.

Daejeon Institute of Science and Technology |

Hyecheon University, which sent volunteers to DAIL Community Cambodia, has changed its name to Daejeon Institute of Science and Technology. After the name change, the professors and students of the university visited us again, and it was a great pleasure to see them again. Thank you very much for not forgetting about DAIL Community Cambodia and extending a hand of compassion.

Korea National University of Transportation |

Korea National University of Transportation (formerly, Chungju University) sent volunteers to DAIL Community Cambodia once again. The students of Korea National University of Transportation have visited us several times in the past, and now consider us as an essential part of their overseas volunteer program route. Keeping us in their memory, they've been visiting us every time they go abroad to volunteer. The students, professors and staff from Korea National University of Transportation not only offered a helping hand in preparing the food and cleaning the center, but also gave their all while playing with the kids. Children's laughter never ceased during their stay, thanks to the university students doing their best to let them experience some fun. Dear students, professors and staff of Korea National University of Transportation, thank you from the bottom of our hearts for visiting us time and time again.

DAIL Angel's Hospital & DAIL Little Heaven

Yong Beom Jo from Sangsan High School in Jeonju |

Yong Beom Jo is a student at Sangsan High School in Jeonju whose interest in DAIL Community blossomed while he was volunteering at Babfor throughout his middle school years. After entering high school, Yong Beom has been volunteering at DAIL Angel's Hospital & DAIL Little Heaven, with a vision to lead a life of volunteering for and serving the marginalized classes. Because he is attending a boarding school, he cannot visit Seoul very often, but on weekends when he visits his family in Seoul, he comes to our facilities to volunteer. He says that he will always making volunteering one of his top priorities. Another matter to note is that he is also a sponsor for "Happiness with 10,000 won," and donates the money he saves up from his monthly allowance. The world is brighter thanks to students like Yong Beom Jo.

The Student Team of Kyunghee High School |

There is a group of students who visit DAIL Little Heaven on a regular basis, and it is none other than the student team from Kyunghee High School. Their greatest strengths are their positive mindset, active participation, and cooperation. They do not hesitate to approach our patients and ask them, "Are you alright?" They do difficult and grueling work by cooperating with one another. Perhaps that's why, but whenever the students from Kyunghee High School come to volunteer, our center becomes constantly filled with laughter. Thank you for volunteering at DAIL Little Heaven so joyfully and lifting everyone's mood. We hope to see you again very soon.

The Group Team of the High School at the College of Education, Dongguk University |

Second year students and teachers from the High School at the College of Education, Dongguk University recently visited DAIL Little Heaven for the first time. They dedicated themselves to taking care of the seniors, cleaning every corner of DAIL Angel's Hospital, shining every glass window, and so on, and they did it with such passion and joy, despite the hot weather. Without any complaints, the students and teachers enthusiastically did what we asked them to do, and they even made the cleaning tool storage area look so spick and span that we wouldn't have known that they used those tools if we hadn't seen them. Their eyes sparkled when they were serving the seniors and when they were cleaning, and we hope to see them again next time.

Poem to soothe the soul

Emily Dickinson

If I can

If I can stop one heart

from breaking,

I shall not live in vain.

If I can ease one life

the aching,

or cool one pain,

or help one fainting robin

onto his nest,

I shall not live in vain.
